East Kildonan School Principal to Enter Consular Service.

D. S. Michell, principal of the Lord Wolseley school, East Kildonan, will leave on Monday evening next for Para, Brazil, to take up a position in the British consular service.

Mr. Michell is one of the old-timers of Manitoba, having come from England over 35 years ago. He is well known in educational circles. The past 21 years have been spent in teaching in the province.

He secured the highest standing offered for teachers in Manitoba entirely by private study without attendance at any high school or college. From the time of his arrival in Canada, from England, in 1883, until he commenced teaching in 1897, he was engaged in farming close to Minnota. After a number of years spent in the Brandon and Carman districts he accepted the principalship of the Central school in Selkirk, a position which he held for five years. Since 1914 he has been principal of one of East Kildonan's large schools.

Owing to his being over military age he was disappointed in the hope of being accepted as an officer for overseas service with the C. E. F.

His eldest son has been in France for two years with the 12th Canadian Field Ambulance under Col. Gordon.

A deep and active interest has always been taken by Mr. Michell in the work of the East Kildonan church. At a reception held recently he was presented with a beautiful gold watch as a token of the esteem in which he is held by his fellow workers.

Mrs. Michell and family are remaining in East Kildonan for the present but are to join him in the near future.

PREACH LENTEN SERMONS ...

Rev. Father Delor in Montreal After Three Years on Active Service

Montreal, March 1.—Laying aside the uniform of a French soldier which he wore for three years on the battlefields of France, Flanders and Italy, for the white and black garb of a Dominican monk, Rev. Father Delor is in Montreal to preach a series of Lenten sermons in the church of Notre Dame. Father Delor in an interview yesterday gave the lie direct to the stories circulated as to drunkenness and vice amongst the Canadian soldiers.

J. M. HAWRYLUK, B.Sc., B.Ed.

I first met John Hawryluk back in the early 30's when we played on the same basketball team in the Y.M.C.A. league. At that time he was attending University and in the evenings alternated his time between studies, basketball and playing in an orchestra to subsidize his activities.

John is principal of Polson School, the oldest school in the East Kildonan District, and is one of the well known members of our staff. He is commencing his 13th year with us, having spent seven years in Prince Edward as Science teacher and in charge of sports; the last five as principal at Polson.

Born in Winnipeg, he received his education in the City Schools and graduated from the U. of M. with a science degree. He later added B.Ed. to his name and is now completing work for his M.Ed.

Keenly interested in his chosen profession, he also shows the same enthusiasm for sports and music. An active participant in tennis, bowling, curling and golf, he has also played basketball, baseball and hockey. In the above sports he has won many trophies, in particular he has held the men's high in the Teacher's Bowling league for five consecutive years. An active member of the Winnipeg Canoe club, Palaminaki club and C.U.A.C.

Past president of the Teachers' Association No. 20, and chairman of Trial Board of Winnipeg Musicians Union.

In the musical field he devotes much of his spare time to encouraging young players with musical ability and was partially responsible in assisting some E.K. students who, as a 5-piece orchestra, made their debut last Friday evening, Sept. 26, in the Community hall.

He himself plays the violin, trumpet, and has been vocalist in an orchestra for many years, does choral work and has taken part in the Manitoba Musical Festival for the past two seasons.

He is very proud of his competent school staff and is very appreciative of the cooperation he has received during the past few years from his students and their parents. The response to school teas and other endeavours made possible the purchase of a $650.00 sound projector which is used each week. Polson is the only school with this equipment.

Mr. Hawryluk, his mother and sister, Helen, on our Collegiate staff, are residents of Winnipeg, but formerly resided in East Kildonan for 11 years until the winter of 1941.

Principal of Salisbury School in Morse Place, Mr. Mastin is himself a product of East Kildonan schools.

He was born on Bowman ave. in the spring of 1909, a year that I too selected as a most auspicious year in which to be born. After the usual six year waiting period he was admitted to Polson School and in due course, 1927 to be exact, graduated from the Collegiate, which was then in Prince Edward. In the intervening years he has never lost his enthusiasm for study and is at present working on his third year Arts.

Upon leaving school he joined the staff of the old Standard Bank of Canada, which later was absorbed by The Canadian Bank of Commerce. Two years in the field of finance did not impress him with its verdure; the prospect of spending the rest of his days counting someone else's money did not appeal, so without any regrets he returned to the halls of learning and enrolled in the Winnipeg Normal School.

Mr. Mastin's first appointment was at Lokowce School, Gardenton, Man., where he taught for two years. This was followed by five years at Herriott School near Glenella, Man., and one year at Kitchener School, North Kildonan.

The cycle was then complete, and in September, 1940, he re-entered East Kildonan Schools with an appointment at Salisbury under Principal D. Small. Mr. Mastin is now beginning his third year as principal, but for two years previous to that was acting principal during Mr. Small's absence in the forces.

Mr. Mastin admits of a kindly disposition towards Jack Benny, in that he too is fond of the violin and for some time played this instrument in an orchestra. He is married and resides at 292 Winterton ave.

from drowning throughout Canada and to promote a healthful form of exercise and physical development. East Kildonan schools will participate in this training program. Approximately 100 students from the High School and Collegiate will swim one night a week under the supervision of Harold Kreewin, secretary-treasurer of East Kildonan School District, who is a qualified Red Cross swimming instructor.

Born in 1882 on a farm near what is now Killarney, Man., James Hilton Moir can be described as a 100% Manitoban; having been born, educated and having devoted his whole life to teaching in this province.

Sixty-five years ago the nearest town to his father's farm was Emerson, Man., and the only way to get there was by ox team and wagon. His family were Manitoba farm pioneers in the truest sense.

He received his elementary education in the old wooden school-house, so familiar to those who grow up in the country; one known as Glendenning School, near Pelican Lake. By the time he was ready for higher education, Killarney was able to provide the High School.

By the time he was 21, James

Moir had decided to leave the farm and directed his steps towards the teaching profession, a decision that he has never regretted. After attending the old Winnipeg Normal School, he received his first appointment in 1904 to Rosedale School, near Lockport, where he stayed for 1½ years.

Having decided on his career, he realized that further education was essential to greater advancement and again his steps turned to the Halls of Learning. He entered the University of Manitoba and graduated in 1910 with a B.A. degree.

After graduation, the first school to receive the imprint of his teaching was Central St. Paul, out by the Hoddinott Road. Here the next 4½ years passed very quickly but it

Education Week, 1947, will long retain its impress in the memory of the many residents and former residents of East Kildonan, together with the members of the teaching staffs and former teachers in the schools of the municipality also the students of the Collegiate and ex-students, and more particularly those who were privileged to be in attendance at the fitting convocation service held in King Memorial Church Thursday of last week. At this service James Hilton Moir, who recently retired from the principalship of East Kildonan Collegiate, at the close of 32 years of service as principal in the schools of the community, was honored when glowing tributes were paid his worth in the community by representative citizens.

J. Les. Bodie, chairman of the East Kildonan School Board, was chairman of the evening, and was supported on the pulpit platform by the honored guest of the evening, James H. Moir, and Mrs. Moir, also by Mrs. A. Warne.

Following the chairman's remarks, he called for the presentation of scholarships sponsored by the East Kildonan Scholarship Foundation. These included the Dormer Lodge scholarship, presented to Miss Elsie Penner, 124 Chelsea ave., by Geo. Ball; the school board scholarship, presented to Miss Betty Ison, 225 Trent ave., by Mrs. A.

Warne, and the James Stacey scholarship, presented to Miss Isabel Borthwick, 855 Moncton ave., by Mrs. A. Warne. The Radio Oil medal for general proficiency in grade IX, was presented to Bernice Rzasa by H. R. Bradshaw, and a further award for general proficiency in grade IX, was presented to Thomas Wishart by Mrs. Warne.

The opening tribute to Mr Moir was expressed by the chairman of the evening, who took the opportunity presenting the honored guest with a desk set of Manitoba marble base on behalf of the school board. Rev. F. J. Ison brought his tribute under the general head, "Mr. Moir in the School," while Rev. P. V. Samson referred to his active affiliation with the Church. Dr. R. O. MacFarlane, Deputy Minister of Education, brought his tribute to Mr. Moir, as did T. A. McMaster, representing the Manitoba Teachers' Society. The final tribute, brought by Mr. Justice A. M. Campbell under the title "Mr. Moir in East Kildonan," climaxed the evening, accompanied as it was with the presentation of a $500 Dominion of Canada Bond, which was greeted with thunderous applause.

The guest of the evening was warmly received when he rose to acknowledge the tribute and the accompanying gift.

The evening's program was interspersed with vocal solos by three ex-students. Margaret Grieve Wilson rendered "Where'er You Walk" (Handel) and "Bois Epais" (Lully), Shirley Donald rendered "The Lord's Prayer," and Robert Kesler sang "One World" (Geoffrey O'Hara) and "A Little Song of Life" (Malotte), while "The Teachers' Hymn" was sung by the assembled company. Allen Borbridge was organist. The service closed with the singing of "God Save the King."

Thereafter the large company adjourned to the basement auditorium, where refreshments were served. Here, too, a further opportunity was afforded gaining the signature of those in attendance. The honored guest of the evening, enjoyed the hearty handshake of those present, with the accompanying fond wishes of one and all for every contentment and happiness in his well-earned retirement.

was here also that in 1912 he made another very happy decision, when he married Lillian Williams.

Then in September, 1915, James H. Moir accepted an appointment to Salisbury School in the East Kildonan School District and he was never again tempted to wander further afield. 1916-17 were spent as principal at Polson School and it was while he was there that a little red-headed country boy first made his acquaintance. (I was that boy). The next three years he spent at Lord Wolseley which was then an elementary school. In 1921 Prince Edward School was built and Mr. Moir moved again, this time for six years, and during that time Prince Edward was raised to the status of Junior High.

In 1928 Lord Wolseley again claimed him and held him until his retirement in June of this year. As at June, 1947, Mr. Moir completed 38 years as an educator and can state that in all that time he never taught under the supervision of any principal.

During his 32 years with the East Kildonan School District, Mr. and Mrs. Moir resided for 27 years in East Kildonan, moving to Winnipeg from 158 Helmsdale ave. in 1942. His family of three boys and one daughter all received their education in East Kildonan. The family all attended John Black United Church where for 28 years he was a member of the session.

Tonight at 8 o'clock in King Memorial Church, the East Kildonan schools will hold their Education Week Convocation. During the evening program Mr. Moir will be specially honored and all former pupils and friends are invited to attend.

Education Close-Ups

Apr 1955

(First of a series)

By ARN McEWEN

In the March 24th issue of The Herald I mentioned the number of educators we employ in our East Kildonan schools and compared today's figures to the situation in 1952.

It has since occurred to me that perhaps you would like to know more about the men and women who are managing the business in our schools.

Here, then, in the first of this series, is a veteran teacher and present principal of Prince Edward School, H. R. (Howard) Haines.

HOWARD ROBERT HAINES FIRST PRINCIPAL AT THE NEW MELROSE SCHOOL

With quiet deliberation Mr. Haines will unfold his dislikes for most of the singers on radio today, or he will substantiate his opinion that too many TV programs are not suitable to his viewing pleasure.

As he concentrates on getting your listening attention you may well think to yourself, "This chap is certainly tenacious," and although you may not altogether agree with what he is saying, his argument at least is most decisive. He has the remarkable ability to remember the detail of past incidents.

Having a good memory is no accident with Mr. Haines, since one of his sources of enjoyment includes the re-reading of his favorite books. He likes to test his ability of 30 or 40 years ago by memorizing parts of the book as he goes along.

Principal Haines was born in Birtle, Man., receiving his public schooling there and at Grandview, Brandon Collegiate, and later at the University of Manitoba where he obtained his B.A. in 1925 and B.Ed. in 1939.

He taught for five years in a small country school, has been principal four years in intermediate schools, was seven years principal of the Killarney Collegiate, spent 14 years under Mr. Moir at the East Kildonan Collegiate, and has worked for 13 years as principal at Prince Edward School.

When Mr. Haines secured his Bachelor of Arts degree in third and fourth year, he majored in psychology and philosophy. In leading up to his Bachelor of Education degree among some of the courses studied were: Comparative Education, a study of systems of administration in England, France, Germany, the U.S.A. and Canada; the psychology of the school subjects; tests and measurements in education; principles of educational research and high school administration and supervision.

Teacher Haines has always been exceptionally keen in assisting athletics. He was successful in forming the Suburban Collegiate Athletic Association in which he served on two occasions as president.

He has coached teams to championships in soccer, baseball, hockey and basketball, and on one occasion his coaching secured the championship for a track team. Many youngsters who are now famous athletes were first developed under Mr. Haines' expert guidance.

His less strenuous activities include his favorite game of bridge, and on occasions chess and checkers.

Mr. Haines is interested in all kinds of puzzles, but not in puzzle competitions.

JOHN MARTIN HAWRYLUK
B.Sc., B.Ed.

Principal of Polson School

One of our older members of the East Kildonan staff is John Martin Hawryluk, who has been with us the past 20 years.

Although Mr. Hawryluk participates in other activities, he is essentially and basically an educator. He is keenly interested in his chosen profession — teaching — and is very proud of it.

Born in Winnipeg, Mr. Hawryluk attended Machray and Aberdeen Schools. During his first year at St. John's Technical High School he played the violin in the school orchestra. Later he joined a dance orchestra and in this way "put himself" through university during the "lean 30's".

Some time later he "picked" up the trumpet and with his violin, fine tenor voice, he became first a librarian and then leader of an orchestra.

Politically speaking, Mr. Hawryluk needs no introduction. Since 1949 he has represented Winnipeg North in the Manitoba Legislature.

This year Mr. Hawryluk will be completing his 21st year in East Kildonan where he started as science and mathematics teacher and in charge of sports at Prince Edward School. For the past 14 years he has been principal at Polson School.

Mr. Hawryluk graduated from the University of Manitoba in 1933 with a Bachelor of Science degree and attended the Faculty of Education in 1934. Since that time all courses have been completed towards his Master of Education degree.

Through the excellent cooperation of the parents of his district, and the members of his staff and the pupils, Polson School has raised thousands of dollars in past years by means of school teas and bazaars. As a result, Polson School has acquired the reputation of being the best equipped school in all of Greater Winnipeg.

Such equipment includes the following: A public address system, a movie projector, portable screen, strip-film projector, new radios in each classroom, a portable typewriter, two portable gramophone machines, a recorder machine and $100 worth of music appreciation records, a multigraph machine, extra supplementary readers for each classroom and library books, three sets of encyclopaedias, sports equipment, etc.

Mr. Hawryluk's hobbies are music and books. He has an excellent library of records and books at home.

Polson School choirs took part in the Manitoba Musical Festival and won trophies on three occasions.

Since early school years Mr. Hawryluk has taken an active part in all sports and in the past has won many trophies and cups for bowling, tennis, curling and golf. He has won the high men's single average trophy in the Winnipeg Teachers' Five Pin Bowling League ten times in the last 14 years.

For two successive years Mr. Hawryluk had been president of the Teachers' Association, Local No. 20, and was secretary for two years with the Winnipeg Teachers' Bowling Association. He is an executive member of the Ukrainian Business Men's and Professional Club, a member of the Ukrainian Canadian Legion, one of the first members and former president of the Ukrainian Male Voice Choir.

For many years he was a member of the Canadian Ukrainian Athletic Association and during the earlier years of the club he coached, supervised community sports and encouraged young boys to take an active part in various sports.

Mr. Hawryluk is married. He was formerly a resident of East Kildonan.

MISS M. McINTYRE

Principal of Munroe School

Sept 1955

There's something about East Kildonan that appeals to a great number of people, especially to those in the teaching profession. Miss Mima McIntyre is no exception.

Perhaps it's the reminiscent atmosphere in neighborly small towns, or perhaps it is the interesting people whose children grow up, marry, and build their own homes here. Whatever the particular mixture of reasons, Miss McIntyre, at least for the past 25 years, has never indicated a desire to teach elsewhere.

Her public and high school education was obtained in the village of Oak River, Man., where she was born, and later at Brandon secured her grade 12 standing.

From then on Miss McIntyre studied hard through university summer school courses, even night school, attending at the Royal Conservatory in Toronto and the Lycee Victor Drury in Paris, France. The latter was a French course taken in summer on a scholarship from the Manitoba Department of Education.

Among some of the country schools where Miss McIntyre gained her experience were Sinclair, Crandall, Waskada and Hartney. She then was chosen as an exchange teacher and taught for one year in Ashbourne, Derbyshire, England.

It turned out, however, that the highlight of her year teaching in England was centered more about one particular thing — a car!

To win a car is an event extraordinary at any time, but to win one on a Hospital Charity Drive in a strange land is indeed something else. Miss McIntyre hastened to add that even without the car her experience in the Old Country, along with her mother, would never be forgotten.

After her return to Canada Miss McIntyre was accepted in a Winnipeg School. It took her only three days to decide a transfer to East Kildonan was more to her liking.

Before being appointed as principal at Munroe School, Miss McIntyre had taught in the Collegiate, Prince Edward Junior High and Salisbury Junior High Schools.

Music, starting as a leader in country church choirs, has always been in the foreground of Miss

DADGAM

McIntyre's interests. She has sung in church choirs most of her life. With varying successes she has entered many of her school choirs in the Manitoba Musical Festival.

In 1948 the only suburban choir ever to win the Earl Grey Trophy, so far, was won under her leadership. Also that same year another of her choirs placed second in the Peter Logan Trophy and the following year she conducted her choral group to third place, beaten only by Daniel McIntyre and Kelvin.

For relaxation Miss McIntyre bowls, plays bridge and drives her car considerable distances. She has acted as president of the Winnipeg Teachers' Five Pin Bowling League, president of the Exchange Teachers' Club, and is very active on the executive of the Winnipeg Teachers' Music Club.

During this past summer Miss McIntyre taught music to the pupil-teachers at the Provincial Normal School in Tuxedo.

Munroe School, which is situated on Munroe ave. between Roch and Watt, has six classes with approximately 175 pupils from grades 1, 2 and 3. Principal Miss McIntyre is assisted at the school by five teachers.

Speaking about a person's age, it would not be correct to call Albert Mastin an old-timer, a fact borne out by the above illustration which was taken from a recent photograph.

On the other hand, in terms of residence and deep roots within this East Kildonan municipality, then certainly Albert Mastin is an old-timer in every sense of the word.

Mr Mastin was born in East Kildonan. He started education in grade 1 at Folsom School, and when grade 4 was completed, moved over to Prince Edward School, where he graduated from grade 11 in 1927. At that time high school was connected with the elementary and junior high sections.

When asked if he could remember what aroused his desire to be a teacher, Mr. Mastin answered, "I don't know exactly, but I do remember right from grade 4 I always had a keen desire to follow this profession. That's why I left my job with the Bank of Commerce, I guess." This job, explained Mr. Mastin, was obtained immediately after graduation, and lasted to 1930.

Mr. Mastin remembers very well his normal school training taken in the buildings which now house government offices at the corner of William ave. and Gerlie st. It had a small back yard for recreational purposes, a vast difference to the acreage around the present normal school in Tuxedo.

In 1932 his first teaching position was a one-roomed school near the town of Gardenton, Man., where he taught grades 1 to 8. Of the 35 pupils on the roll call, there were 15 beginners who could not speak any English.

Mr Mastin's experience with these youngsters was so enjoyable that he returned to teach a second term.

"They taught me an important lesson in teaching," recalled Mr. Mastin: "I learned that children, regardless of speech and nationality, are friendly, earnest and eagerly desirous of achieving their very best."

There is the odd one who isn't so fussy about learning, he explained, but so is the case everywhere.

His next teaching assignment took him near the town of Glenella, where he spent five years with grades 1 to 8, all eager, friendly pupils with that same desire for achievement.

In 1939 Mr Mastin taught for a year in North Kildonan under principal H H Hooper, and the next year entered the service of the East Kildonan School District on the staff at Salisbury School.

ALBERT V. MASTIN
Principal Salisbury School

After four years as assistant principal, Mr. Mastin was appointed principal in 1944. During the time he has been in Morso Place the school has grown from a five-roomed unit housing grades 1 to 9, which later doubled its capacity until at present the ten rooms accommodate only grade 6 pupils.

For the next few years it is Mr. Mastin's opinion that the school population will continue to grow, and then remain steady at a fairly heavy enrolment in each grade.

During his teaching Albert Mastin has found time to take many teacher training courses to better his ability, and as well is studying university courses leading to a degree.

He enjoys reading, particularly the abridged best sellers published by Reader's Digest, likes good music, and has played in two different orchestras.

"I dislike much of the stuff sent over the radio," he says, and added, "many people must enjoy it or it wouldn't be broadcast, and I can always shut it off."

Another pleasant home-time hobby of his is composing children's stories for his younger children. He has one daughter attending grade 11 in the Collegiate, one boy in grade 1 in Munroe School, and a two-year-old at home.

The small town of Minto, Man., may have changed a bit from the days J. E. (Jim) Scarrow learned his readin', writin' and 'rithmetic, but there are still a large number of people in that district who are proud of their small town boy who made something of his learnin'.

Mr. Scarrow received all his early education in Minto, and after attending Normal School in 1926 returned to take over a one-room school called Alcester, near his home town.

During the two years' teaching there he completed grade 12 the hard way, by private study and summer school. For two years following this he attended the University of Manitoba until the depression forced him to discontinue his studies in Winnipeg.

From 1931 to 1934 he once again taught in a one-room school called Riverside, but in '35 moved up to a two-roomer as principal in Justice, Man. There he met the future Mrs. Scarrow who became his wife that same year.

Mr. and Mrs. Scarrow moved on to Fairfax where Jim was principal of its three-room school from 1936 to 1939.

While teaching at Fairfax he attended summer school sessions to complete his Bachelor of Arts degree, and was promptly made principal of a five-room school at Kelwood, Man. After holding this position for three years he moved to Emerson where he took over the principalship of an eight-room school.

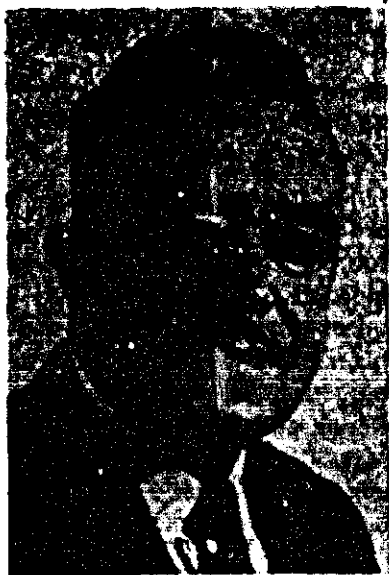

During this period he was a member of the Provincial Executive of the Manitoba Teachers' Society and president of the Teachers' Convention held in Norwood.

After five years in Emerson Mr. Scarrow was appointed principal of Lord Walseley School in East Kildonan in 1947 where he had charge of the East Kildonan Collegiate and grades 1, 2 and 3.

For the first few years in East Kildonan he studied further university courses and obtained his Bachelor of Education in 1953. When Miles Macdonell Collegiate was opened in September of the same year, Mr. Scarrow was appointed its principal.

The little one-roomer school called Alcester held 15 pupils, and when the new addition to Miles Macdonell is occupied Mr. Scarrow will supervise 17 teachers and approximately 500 students in grades 7 to 11.

Since coming to East Kildonan he has been president of the Teachers' Convention, and has served two years on the executive of the Manitoba Educational Association. Virtually all his teaching experience has been as principal, and he has taught all grades from one to 12 inclusive.

J. E. SCARROW, B.A., B.Ed.
Principal Miles Macdonell Collegiate

Mr. Scarrow's quiet wit and persistence in all his endeavors have made him a host of friends in East Kildonan. He is very interested in all sports, particularly curling. He is a member of the Session of John Black United Church, and has been on the directorate of the East Kildonan Community Club. Since his arrival in this municipality Mr. Scarrow has been a steady Kiwanian.

Most of his lifetime thus far has been taken up in improving his education and position. He has always been a "do-it-yourself" enthusiast, and while he has no particular hobby, likes to try everything "at least once."

Mr. Scarrow has been in East Kildonan during its greatest expansion and has faith that not many years hence East Kildonan will be one of the finest suburbs in Greater Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. Scarrow have a son attending grade eight, a daughter in grade two, and reside at 94 Hazel-dell ave.

Ald. Slaw Rebchuk To Open New East Elmwood Clubhouse

The executive of the East Elmwood Community Club have arranged to have Ald. Slaw Rebchuk, on behalf of Mayor Sharpe, officiate at the opening of the new clubhouse on Beach ave., on Friday, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m. This will be followed by entertainment and tea will be served.

Owing to the uncertainty of the date of completion of the building, the original opening date of Oct. 14 had to be put back to Oct. 21.

LOUISE M. HUDSON

Principal Angus McKay School

"Little ones — particularly the little ones — they're wonderful!"

This is the way Miss Hudson describes her work with the 187 youngsters in grades one to three who daily bounce into her six-room school at the foot of Roberta ave. in East Kildonan.

"They are my whole life," she explains, "each child brings in a new world and they are all so interesting."

To any parent in the area whose child attends Angus McKay, the obvious and outspoken enthusiasm of Principal Miss Hudson towards her little charges is, to say the least, extremely refreshing.

Concerning school policy, Miss Hudson strives to have all teachers in the school eliminate any tendencies or feelings of certain individuals or groups of children to create divisions within the class. "Rather," she says, "I attempt to have one happy family, as if they were all my own."

Louise Hudson was born in the small town of Crystal City, where she obtained her early education. She attended Normal School at Manitou and Winnipeg and later taught in the rural schools of Mather, Morden, Crystal City and Winnipeg Beach. In the Morden School Miss Hudson taught pupils in all grades from one to ten.

Twenty-five years ago Miss Hudson came to Lord Wolseley School in East Kildonan and moved into the brand new Angus McKay School as principal in 1953.

Some of the University of Manitoba summer courses attended by Miss Hudson included art, music and psychology. In 1947 she spent two months studying the Psychology of Exceptional Children at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

The latter course, according to Miss Hudson, was by far the most interesting and was under the direction of Dr. Paul Witty, famed American psychologist. Dr. Witty had made a detailed study of 23 children from the time they started learning at four years of age until they completed their junior high education.

cluded in Dr. Witty's study. He also made a thorough study of exceptionally "dull" children.

One product of Miss Hudson's musical interest is the number of trophies claimed by pupils of choirs competing in the Manitoba Musical Festival. They include the Justice Robson Trophy, J. S. Little Trophy and the Archbishop Tache Shield.

Her outside interest during the war years was assisting in hospitals for the St. John Ambulance. Lately Miss Hudson has completed a course in civil defence. She is a Past Noble Grand of Olive Branch, Rebekah Lodge.

During the summer months gardening and the growing of flowers rank as her first interest but she also loves to travel, play bridge, and has bowled in the Manitoba Teachers League.

Another interest probably more important to Miss Hudson is the project, a sort of hobby for all the children at Angus McKay, called the Peguis Reserve.

This idea originally started with the Dynevor Indian Hospital at Selkirk, when all the school children sent gifts at Christmas time. Now Angus McKay has more or less adopted the Peguis Reserve as a continuing interest. The principal object of this project is to make the children understand the needs of others.

Three times a year the school plans a drive including everything from milk to mackinaws and the response has always been tremendous. Last year 31 large boxes were shipped to the Reserve, a real tribute to the work of these little people and of the wonderful generous spirit from the parents in the Angus McKay area.

A real tribute too, to a real teacher.

There was a road, country style, and when the lad Jay Anderson started out in grade one, two miles a day he trudged to the little country school house that was built in 1884.

A. Jay Anderson was born on the family homestead located near the small town of Carroll, Man., and took his high school training at Brandon Collegiate Institute.

After graduation he returned to work on the farm for a while, then attended a short normal course at Manitoba conducted by the late J. W. Gordon. Mr. Gordon was then school inspector for that district.

The normal course completed, Mr. Anderson obtained a small country school in a newly settled part of Saskatchewan, about 50 miles west of Yorkton. In addition to his teaching duties he was also the school caretaker, all for a salary of $1,200 a year (considered very good for a country school at that time).

When the school closed Mr. Anderson enrolled in the Normal School at Regina where his talent to do mathematics was quickly recognized. All the students in Normal School at that time having "conditions" in mathematics were given the benefit of his superior ability—"after fours" and on Saturday mornings.

All through his 33 years' teaching experience many, many various organizations have made him entirely responsible for their records or financial matters, relying entirely on his inherent honesty.

Matching his wizardry at figures is Mr. Anderson's affable nature (he finds it hard to say "no") and his neat and thorough manner of work is always in popular demand.

Mr. Anderson was principal, supervisor and teacher of all subjects in grades 9, 10 and 11 for two years at the Intermediate School in Clearwater village. There the students were required to write departmental examinations.

Following this he was principal of a similar school at Stockton for five years, and in 1931 he came to East Kildonan as principal at Salisbury School.

In 1940 he became assistant principal at Prince Edward School, a position he occupied until his appointment this year as principal. Prince Edward School has 18 rooms with an approximate enrollment of 612 pupils.

During the last war an appeal was made through the schools of Greater Winnipeg for principals to organize Army Cadet classes. These were meant to be basic military training, useful to the older boys if and when they joined the regular army.

In order to qualify Mr. Anderson spent several summers at the Fort Osborne and Minto Barracks where he studied signalling, squad drill, fire arms, map reading and physical training. From the results of his final examinations Mr. Anderson received the rank of lieutenant. After further courses held Saturday mornings and during school holidays he was promoted to the rank of captain.

Somehow Mr. Anderson has found time to take six summer courses at the University of Manitoba and has spent one winter attending night classes.

Mr. Anderson's main hobby, besides mathematics, is cars and tractors. He loves to tinker with them and he does all the necessary repairs on his own car. Outside of that he plays the piano.

He has this to say about TV programs: "Properly controlled by parents, television is good — but I recommend it only with this reservation."

He believes in all types of sports, but with him, education comes first. "The average man," he said, "must depend on the education he receives to make his living."

What about staggered hours, what did he think about it. "Definitely," he asserted, "I am not in favor of staggered hours. In my opinion it's harder on teachers, and the half day off for students just gives them more opportunities to run the streets."

To mention a few of his affiliations, Mr. Anderson was one of the original group to organize the Suburban Junior High Athletic Association in 1931, and has been treasurer in that organization for 24 years. He has been secretary-treasurer of the John Black Church Sunday School for about 15 years, and is a member of the church Session. This year he is president of the Inspectoral School District No. 12, and has been treasurer since 1952.

Mr. Anderson is married, has two children, is proud of his three grandchildren, and resides at 148 Leighton avenue.

Educational Close-ups

Across the seas to Old Ireland, and many years before the 1870 National Education Act was legislated in Britain, in the land of the Shillelagh the family name Wiley was well known to many a classroom.

Leslie Wilmott Wiley arrived into the third generation of the teaching Wiley's at a "Teacherage" in Northern Ireland, and over 30 years ago was one of the first to break the family tradition by seeking far off pastures greener than the shamrock. What he saw in Canada he liked, and three different visits back to the old land haven't changed his attitude.

He received all his formal education in Winnipeg schools, and graduated with an arts degree from the University of Manitoba in 1935.

All appearances to the contrary, Principal Wiley is an "old timer" in our East Kildonan schools. Since his coming to the staff over 28 years ago he has served as assistant principal in all the schools then in operation, which included the East Kildonan Collegiate. There he headed the department of history.

During the last war Mr. Wiley served in radar with the National Defense at Ottawa and later was attached to the British Army Overseas. Immediately after his return in 1945 he accepted an appointment to teach English and history under Dr. Robert Fletcher at the Canadian Veterans' Training School.

He returned to teach history at Lord Wolseley School the next year, but when the Collegiate moved to its new home in Miles Macdonell he remained as principal at Lord Wolseley. At present the school has 16 classrooms with an enrollment of 520 pupils in grades 1 to 6.

In the days of the old Home and School Association in Lord Wolseley School when Hon. R. A. Hoey was Minister of Education, it is interesting to note that at one of the meetings Mr. Wiley learned that his grandfather and Hon. Hoey's father had spent their lives teaching the children of neighboring schools in County Fermanagh, Northern Ireland.

In East Kildonan an aunt of Mr. Wiley's, the former Ethel Wiley, who obtained her B.A. degree in Dublin, was formerly principal at Salisbury School. He also has a brother, Edwin, who is presently principal of the new million dollar Sudbury High School in Ontario.

Mr. Wiley is a very active member of King Memorial United Church where he serves on the music committee of the Session, sings in the choir, and has served on the Board of Stewards. He is a member of the East Kildonan Local of the Manitoba Teachers' Society and has been both president and secretary.

During 1938 and 1939 he acted as treasurer of the Lord Wolseley Home and School Association, and was president of the Inspectoral District No. 18 Convention in 1952. He is a member of the Dormer Lodge, A.F. & A.M., and the Kiwanis Club of East Kildonan.

Gave Mr. Wiley any creative work to do and he is right in his glory. Whether for teas, a musical or dramatic performance, his ability to design just the right thing for the occasion has won him much praise in this community. He is also very musically-minded, plays a rip-snorting tune at sing-songs, and where music is missing he can compose and set it to words if so desired.

Mr. Wiley married Alice Rowan Gray in 1942, who at that time was also on the staff of the East Kildonan Collegiate. Mrs. Wiley is happily gifted with a flair for the creative arts and together with her husband the couple have become a powerhouse of energy in church and community endeavours.

Mr and Mrs. Wiley reside at 770 Henderson Highway in a home unmistakably of old country design.

This column is the eighth in the new series which will introduce Administrative Staff and principals of schools within our school division and hopefully inform the residents of the activities and curriculum taking place in the schools.

at the American Locomotive Works in Schenectady, New York which resulted in Mr. Dann being employed as a servicing and maintenance technician working on diesel electric locomotives.

Feb 1972

When the first new Technical Vocational School opened in Winnipeg Mr. Dann joined the staff after 14 years experience in the Winnipeg School Division as a teacher and department head of the Electrical Electronics department.

He remained with this school until he accepted the appointment of Vice Principal of the Yorkton Regional High School in the Province of Saskatchewan.

He had the opportunity of being responsible for submitting proposed equipment lists, tendering and purchasing equipment and supplies, assembling technical training staff and putting the technical-vocational program into operation at this school.

With all this experience he became the right person for the River East School Division and the position of principal of the Kildonan East Regional Secondary School.

Mr. Dann is married and has three daughters and resides in the East Kildonan Community where he is active in community affairs being a member of the Kiwanis Club of East Kildonan and the Kiwanis Club of East Kildonan.

Principal Hawryluk among school personnel retiring

John Martin Hawryluk, former teacher, school principal and MLA, retired this June.

Mr. Hawryluk, who was born, raised and educated in Winnipeg, was in the teaching profession in East Kildonan for 40 years. He was a member of the Manitoba Legislature for 14 years and was one of the first principals of Ukrainian origin to be appointed in Greater Winnipeg.

He has always appreciated the complete confidence and cooperation that the staff, parents, and most important, the tens of thousands of pupils who have passed through his hands, gave to the various schools that he served.

He received his B.Sc., B. Educ. and Masters of Education degrees from the University of Manitoba and married Ollie Ewashkiw on July 28, 1952.

While an MLA he always took an active interest in the fields of education, health and welfare, and the plight of the old age pensioners.

He has been active in many organizations all his life. He was president of the East Kildonan teacher's local, the Winnipeg teachers' five-pin bowling league, the Winnipeg Canoe Club, the Granite Club, the Ukrainian Professional and Businessmen's club and an original member and president for over 20 years of the Bohonos Ukrainian male chorus.

For many years he was an executive member of the CUAC club and coached hockey there. He was also an executive member of the Manitoba March of Dimes committee.

At present he is an executive member of the Winnipeg Schoolmaster's club, and a member of the Ukrainian Canadian Committee, Institute Prosvita, and the St. Vladimir and Olga Cathedral's choir and parish.

For many years he played in, managed and was leader of a very well-known Winnipeg dance orchestra, "The Cavaliers Orchestra."

and in 1972 he was made a member of the Manitoba Advisory Committee on Multiculturalism. In May of this year he was reappointed to the Board of Regents for another three year term.

He is still interested in public, church and community affairs, in sports (tennis, bowling, golf, curling), and most important, in maintaining a high standard of pupil achievements and a sensible approach to our present progressive education.

He has been principal of Polson, Melrose and Munroe junior high schools and has deemed it a privilege and pleasure to have served the East Kildonan community for so many years.

A reception in honour of his retirement, held at Munroe Junior High school, June 26, was attended by former students, staff and friends.

Retirement — does it mean a rocking chair?

For retired East Kildonan school principal, Mel Borody — the rocking chair image only fits if he's stripping off the old paint, sanding and refinishing an antique piece.

Just back from six weeks overseas, and before that having spent summer days at the lake, the first principal of Hampstead School has fond memories of his teaching career.

A person who "always wanted to be a teacher", prior to attending Normal School, Borody taught on a teacher's permit for one year at Sprage, Manitoba.

In 1942, it was off to the airforce, and stations on the west coast and service as a wireless operator.

Following his discharge, Borody made the rounds in rural Manitoba — teaching a year in Chatfield, one at Morden and three at Sandy Lake where he was married. Then there was Tyndal and Selkirk before the move to Winnipeg.

After vice principalships at Lord Wolseley, Prince Edward and Melrose Junior High (today Miles Macdonell Collegiate) — Borody began what was to be a 25 year term as principal at Hampstead.

When the school opened in the fall of 1960 there were 300 children in 11 rooms — period. There was no library, gymnasium, music room or kindergarten. "All our music and physical education was done in the hallway — outside the principal's office door."

By the time he retired there were 400 children in 15 rooms in a school which sported a library, gymnasium, music room and kindergarten.

Looking back over his 40 years and six months behind the desk, Borody notes, "Throughout the years I never expected a teacher to do something that I wouldn't do."

And as for the kids, there was the time he walked into the Grade 1 recreation area on the playground.

"A little guy grabbed me by the leg and said, 'I love you. You're the best principal I ever had.'"

"That class had never had any other principal," chuckled Borody.

Then last year, a City of Winnipeg police officer stopped him. Said the man — Thanks for giving me the strap. It was after you got mad at me that I realized you were trying to help.

Said Borody, "Having all that behind me, I am absolutely enjoying my retirement and I wouldn't want to start it all over again. I can't picture having done anything else."
