

Wozniak Acquitted Of Theft

It took a court of Queen's bench jury less than half an hour Thursday afternoon, to acquit Mike Wozniak, former East Kildonan councillor, on charges of theft and receiving stolen goods.

Wozniak broke down and cried as he grasped the hand of Harry Walsh, his legal counsel, after the verdict was announced.

Earlier in the day, in his address to the jury, Mr. Walsh vigorously attacked the credibility of a crown witness who had previously pleaded guilty to retaining the stolen merchandise and been given a suspended term.
